TORAH PORTION "VAYISHLACH" IN A NUTSHELL ...

The name of the Parshah, "Vayishlach," means "And he sent" and it is found in Genesis 32:4.

Jacob returns to the Holy Land after a 20-year stay in Charan, and sends angel-emissaries to Esau in hope of a reconciliation, but his messengers report that his brother is on the warpath with 400 armed men. Jacob prepares for war, prays, and sends Esau a large gift (consisting of hundreds of heads of livestock) to appease him.

That night, Jacob ferries his family and possessions across the Jabbok River; he, however, remains behind and encounters the angel that embodies the spirit of Esau, with whom he wrestles until daybreak. Jacob suffers a dislocated hip but vanquishes the supernal creature, who bestows on him the name Israel, which means "he who prevails over the divine."

Jacob and Esau meet, embrace and kiss, but part ways. Jacob purchases a plot of land near Shechem, whose crown prince—also called Shechem—abducts and rapes Jacob's daughter Dinah. Dinah's brothers Simeon and Levi avenge the deed by killing all male inhabitants of the city, after rendering them vulnerable by convincing them to circumcise themselves.

Jacob journeys on. Rachel dies while giving birth to her second son, Benjamin, and is buried in a roadside grave near Bethlehem. Reuben interferes with his father's marital life. Jacob arrives in Hebron, to his father, Isaac, who later dies at age 180. (Rebecca has passed away before Jacob's arrival.)

Our Parshah concludes with a detailed account of Esau's wives, children and grandchildren; the family histories of the people of Seir, among whom Esau settled; and a list of the eight kings who ruled Edom, the land of Esau's and Seir's descendants.

TORAH GEMS

Give Your Heart to Me

"My child, give your heart to Me, and your eyes will desire My ways." (Proverbs 23:26) The heart is the seat of desires. Hashem exhorts us to channel our will and longing to Him and His service (R' Yonah). One way to do this is to limit our consumption of the resources of this world and concentrate on attaining wisdom and serving Hashem (R' Bachya, Introduction to Parashas Ki Seitzei). If a person uses his heart to understand Hashem's words, he will know that His ways are upright, and as a result he will direct his eyes to serve Him (Metzudos). The Sages (Berachos 12b) associate your hearts with heresy and your eyes with thoughts of immorality. Accordingly, someone will make his parents happy (v. 25) if he commits his heart to absorbing Torah wisdom, so that he will not be attracted to heresy. Similarly, if his eyes are totally focused on Hashem's ways, they will not be drawn after lustful pursuits (Malbim). Homiletically, some people think that in order to come closer to Hashem, they must neglect their physical health, fast, and deny themselves any physical enjoyment. Our verse says no. Give your heart to Me, but do not neglect your body. Instead, take care of yourself, but do it to remain healthy and serve Hashem better (Ginzei Yosef).
